

Velocity

Web Performance and Operations Conference

Web companies, big and small, face many of the same challenges: sites must be faster, infrastructure needs to scale, and everything must be available to customers at all times, no matter what. Velocity will provide the best information on building and operating fast, scalable, resilient, and available web sites. There are few opportunities for engineers, managers, and experts to collaborate, exchange ideas, and share best practices. This conference changes that.

O'Reilly is bringing together people from around the world who are accomplishing outstanding performance work, in order to improve the experience of web users worldwide. Pages will be faster. Sites will have greater up-time. Companies will achieve more with less. The next cool start-up will be able to scale more quickly to serve a larger audience, globally. Velocity is the key for crossing over from cool Web 2.0 features to sustainable web sites.

Join us at Velocity, the O'Reilly conference dedicated to helping people break barriers and build a better Internet for users and customers of all kinds.

Audience profile: Developers, programmers, and product managers from companies of all sizes; efficiency-minded business managers; strategists and business developers; CTOs and CIOs seeking to streamline operations; technology evangelists and entrepreneurs pushing enterprise boundaries; researchers and academics

- Steve Souders works at Google on web performance and open source initiatives. His book High Performance Web Sites explains his best practices for performance along with the research and real-world results behind them.
